

Aim of the group: Establishment of an efficient system to provide a full service for drug development

The core business of the EPS Group is with CRO services. We aim from all aspects to establish a system that can fully support pharmaceutical companies with entire drug development, from preclinical trials through regulatory submission. In synergy with our group company, we also provide services such as SMO, staffing, and the preclinical study business.

Our targets include the promotion and expansion of existing businesses, the further development of overseas activities, the exploration of new businesses, as well as improving service quality for customers worldwide.
