

EPS Corporation Selects 4G Clinical as IRT/RTSM Provider for Multinational Clinical Trials

Strategic Partnership Aims to Accelerate Clinical Trials World-Wide

WELLESLEY, Mass., January 30, 2019 /PRNewswire/ - 4G Clinical, a cutting-edge randomization and trial supply management (RTSM) provider, today announced a strategic partnership with EPS Corporation, one of the largest CROs in Japan.

“We are very excited to select 4G Clinical as our IRT/RTSM provider for multinational clinical trials,” says Hidetaka Ando, CEO of EPS Corporation. “We are impressed by the innovation, speed and flexibility of their RTSM solution, and are confident this partnership will contribute to our business expansion world-wide.”

EPS Corporation has provided randomization services for clinical trials for almost three decades. Melding this experience and 4G’s cutting-edge technology, EPS Corporation is sure to promote further improvements in business quality and efficiency for its customers.

“This partnership reflects our mutual commitment to make a meaningful impact on the way trials are executed,” says David Kelleher, CEO of 4G Clinical. “As one of the most reputable CROs in Japan, we are thrilled to work together to better serve sponsors, investigators and patients world-wide.”

The 4G-EPS partnership is consistent with 4G’s global expansion, including the launch of a Tokyo office, and is in support of their mission to bring crucial medicines to those that need them, faster.
